

"TURN THE RASCALS OUT" SAYS GLEAVES

Republican Speaker Quotes Democrats to Prove Graft in State Government.

ATTACK UPON J. T. ELLYSON

Candidate for Lieutenant Governor Accused of Being Responsible for Political Corruption—Success of G. O. P. This Fall Predicted—Five Hundred People Attend Meeting.

"Turn the rascals out," was the trend of a speech made by Mr. J. L. Gleaves, of Wytheville, under the auspices of the Republican city executive committee last night on the "Elevator lot." The meeting was the largest held by local Republicans in years. Fully five hundred people, a large number of them Democrats, gathered to hear the speech.

Mr. Gleaves used very effectively some of the arguments advanced during the recent Democratic primary campaign, quoting Governor Montague and Lieutenant Governor Joseph T. Willard as authority for the statement that the State is being robbed by Democratic office holders.

Attacked Mr. Elyson, concerning the Democratic candidate for governor, the speaker had nothing to say except that Mr. Swanson was a gentleman in every way, but he made a violent attack upon Mr. J. Taylor Elyson, the party nominee for lieutenant governor. Among other things Mr. Gleaves declared that Mr. Elyson had been responsible for more political corruption in Virginia than any other man in the State.

The speaker dwelt for some time upon the school book question, saying that his party favored the single list, which had been turned down by the Democrats.

For Nearly Fifty Years.

Paying a tribute to the Republican party, Mr. Gleaves said that that party since its birth fifty years ago had been intrusted with the government of this country continually, except for the two administrations of Mr. Cleveland. He went on to say that any business man or working man would agree that no more of Mr. Cleveland was wanted. Glowing tributes were paid by the speaker to Abraham Lincoln, U. S. Grant and Theodore Roosevelt. His reference to Mr. Roosevelt as "Teddy, a Ward power," evoked the nearest thing to enthusiasm shown by the audience during the meeting.

Prosperity and Happiness.

To continue the Republican party in power, the speaker declared, would mean continued prosperity and happiness all over the country. He called upon the people of Newport News, especially, to give that they would be bettered by standing for the Republican party. Mr. Roosevelt, he continued, favors building a big navy—"Keeping the big stick in order" and the Newport News shipyard will build some of the ships.

Before closing Mr. Gleaves predicted that southwest Virginia would give Judge Lewis a majority of 20,000 votes and called upon Tidewater to do its part toward electing the Republican ticket.

Leading Local Republicans.

The meeting last night was preceded by a parade by the Newport News band and before the speaker was escorted to the stand quite a large crowd had gathered. City Chairman C. R. Williams opened the meeting and Mr. George Nelson Wise introduced the speaker.

On the stand with Mr. Gleaves were the following leading local Republicans: W. T. Hopkins, J. E. B. Stuart, W. S. Upshur, W. G. Fraley, E. L. Frey, W. C. Wilkie, Dr. R. A. Atkins, E. V. Swenney, W. C. Smith, H. K. Vaiden, J. J. Watson, Fred Read, Neil Christensen, Charles Brown and James Wilkie.

ASSIGNED TO VIRGINIA.

Lieutenant Bennett Ordered to Report for Duty Here.

Lieutenant E. L. Bennett has been detached from duty at the navy yard, Boston, and ordered to this city on duty as assistant to the inspector of machinery of the battleship Virginia, under construction at the local shipyard.

Warrent Mackintosh, C. C. Holland, has been assigned to duty in connection with the machinery of the battleship Virginia.

SCHOONER LOSES MATE.

J. Frank Leahy Washed Overboard Off Montauk Tuesday.

An Associated Press dispatch from Portland, Me., last night stated that Captain Warden, of the schooner Addison B. Bullard, which arrived at that port yesterday from Newport News, reported that his mate J. Frank Leahy, of New York, was washed overboard and drowned during a heavy gale last Tuesday, while the schooner was off Montauk. Leahy was forty-two years old and single.

Negro Found Dead.

Tarley Johnson, negro, oysterman, was found dead early yesterday morning in the rear of Coker's saloon on Twenty-fourth street. The negro had been on a spree for several days. City Physician J. W. Ayler viewed the body and decided that the man came to his death from natural causes and Police Justice Brown, acting coroner, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

VERY WEAK SHOWING

Shipbuilders Suffered Inglorious

Defeat at Hands of Scottsville.

BAD AT BAT AND IN FIELD

Little Pitcher From Across the Roads

Had Locals Guessing From Start to Finish—Big Crowd of Enthusiasts

Witnessed the Slaughter.

A little flaxen-haired pitcher bearing the name of Cross, was the largest of the two objects which stood between the Shipbuilders and victory at the Casino park yesterday afternoon. This mite of a twirler was at work for the Scottsville team and he seemed to know his business. Twice the men behind him dragged him into a hole by allowing the Shipbuilders to penetrate the sacks but on each occasion he drew out. The score was 6 to 4 in favor of Scottsville and over five hundred enthusiasts, including many ladies, witnessed the slaughter.

Cross had a peculiar habit of throwing up his left leg before delivering the ball and each time he did it the sphere described a mighty arc around the batter. That was very effective. Twelve of the local boys went down during the game without a chance to run for first.

J. O'Hara, for the most part second baseman but sometimes pitcher, looked dangerous when he stepped into the box for the Shipbuilders, but he failed to bluff the visitors, who hammered him plentifully, especially at those times when hits counted for tallies.

Errors Helped Victors.

Hitting alone would not have done so much damage, however, had not the Shipbuilders contributed ten errors, seven of which were of a particularly costly brand. The infield seemed to have nothing in common, except possibly the fumbling of the merest little bats and grounders.

No scoring was done by either side until the second session, when the visitors took advantage of three errors and squeezed in two tallies. A single coupled with three more errors gave them two more in the fifth session. In the seventh they added one more on three consecutive hits and another in the opening of the ninth on a single and two more errors.

A Lost Opportunity.

The locals scored their first in the third session on a single and three errors. They took two more in the fifth on a single, a double and an error and squeezed in their last tally in the eighth with three hits. The Shipbuilders had a golden opportunity to win the game there in the eighth, for the sacks were populated with only one hand gone, but they lost the opportunity and the game right there by inability to couple with Cross' "shoots."

In the ending of the ninth the Shipbuilders went out in one, two three order.
